

KENYA'S 8TH PERIODIC REPORT PRESENTATION ON 68TH SESSION OF THE CEDAW

Kenya's delegation, led by Mrs Sicily Kariuki, Cabinet Secretary, Ministry of Public Service, Youth and Gender Affairs, to the 68th Session of the Committee on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women . more

VOICING WOMEN LEADERSHIP THROUGH RADIO

Low levels of political participation by women has characterised the political landscape in Kwale County in the coastal part of Kenya. This includes the ability to participate... more

FIGHTING RADICALIZATION FROM THE FAMILY SETUP

Radicalization is not a new term to the 58-year-old Mwanaisha Juma from Kwale County in the coastal parts of Kenya, as a resident she has borne the bruises associated.... more

NOVEMBER EVENTS

26th-29th : National Symposium on Disaster Risk Reduction @Kwale County

25th : International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women

25th - 9th :16 DAYS of activism against Gender Based Violence

MUST READ:

Women Peace and Security Index 2017/18

Evaluating peace agreements for their 'gender perspective'

Macroeconomic policy and women's economic empowerment

FROM OUR PARTNERS:

Girl child crusader seek to change lives in Kilifi County

As the International Day of the Girl Child is marked this year many advocates continue to fight for her rights.

The International Day of the Girl Child is marked with global action for increased investment in collection and analysing girl; focused, girl relevant and sex disaggregated data...more.

UN Women is supported by:

"I lost one of my sons at the age of 24 and now my other son just turned 23, it brings back memories and I am not losing him too and so shouldn't any woman. We spend most of the time with our children and by default are the first line of response to keep them from being radicalized. Through the UN Women supported HURIA training, we are able to notice early radicalization signs and act promptly to ensure that each and every woman is aware and can prevent it before happening"

Mrs. Mwanaisha Juma
Resident
Kwale County